

Alex Hills Men's Shed News Letter Monthly

4th Edition: March 2017.

“Hello Hello”, as they say in France, but this is not a French letter.

You have a new Editor for the newsletter. So you may be lucky, but warned there may be mistakes.

As summer draws to a close and we have time to look forward to cooler days and nights, I am sure a lot of the gang have been happy to see the recent rain. Especially home sick Poms. Who yearn for Fog and mist (is that a Yes)?

BBQ Food Safety Certificate Course.

To Comply with Environmental Health Australia and Food Safety and also meet Bunnings Requirements. We shedders should always have at least one person in attendance at each BBQ we facilitate, with a copy of their certificate so it may be produced if required. (I keep mine in my car seat pocket).

Moreton Bay Regional Council at their web site - www.moretonbay.imalert.com.au produce a FREE training and Certification course on line and this when completed and printed out, gives you a record of 24 sections relating to FOOD SAFETY training.

This Month's Member Profile:

Would love to put one in and will try to corral somebody to have a chat or fill in a note sheet. Such a SHY bunch we have!!!!

I am putting together soon a sheet to get some details from people.

.....~.....

According to the Bible, Jesus was born in Bethlehem in Palestine. A country where people are named Mohammed, Abdul, Mounir, Aziz, Ahmed, Farid, Omar, Youssof, Mouloud, etc. And yet He managed to find 12 friends called John, Peter, Paul, Phillip, Mark, Thomas, Luke, Matthew, Andrew and Simon . . . who all drank wine! Now that's what I call a bloody miracle!

Not round here though.

Paddy runs into the pub and shouts to Mick "Someone's stolen your car!"
Mick says "Did you see who did it?"
Paddy says "No, but I got the registration number!!"

Thought for the Day.

- Have you noticed that if you start screaming on a plane, everybody joins in
- Do it in a library and they tell you to be quiet. ...

At our Social Meeting on Tuesday 21st we had a turnout of about 44 members and it looks like we are going to top the Hundred members very soon.

We also had two lady guests the local council member Tracey Huges who handed over a cheque for 3,000 dollars for use by the shed in the community, and Allison Wicks General Manager from Redland Community Centre who presented an informative talk about the functioning of the community centre and thanked the Shed for the shelving that had been made for them. She also handed over a certificate of appreciation to show how well we are perceived.

The Cheque hand over, Tracey is the good looking one
